

Introduction to Exhibition Space

The Nerima Art Museum opened October 1st, 1985.

Ever since its establishment, the Nerima Art Museum has held many exhibitions displaying Japanese contemporary art, focusing on innovative ideas and perspectives. Not only does the museum have activities pertaining to the museum's collection, preservation, research, and exhibition, they also hold educational events such as curator and artist talks, hall concerts, classes for a variety of skills and knowledge.

We chose the Nerima Art Museum's second floor General Display Room as our exhibition space, in hopes to expose our exhibitors to a wider audience, and through this exhibition, to create wider discussions around the artworks and its themes.
